

Emerging and Unsanctioned Russian Shadow Fleet Tankers

Anatolii Kravtsev, KSE Institute
Yuliia Pavytska, KSE Institute

September 2025

Summary

- From January to July 2025, Russia actively deployed new tankers that, meeting the shadow fleet criteria, conducted loading operations in Russian ports and subsequent transportation of Russian crude oil and petroleum products to other countries.
- KSE Institute identified 60 new shadow tankers, that engaged in transporting Russian crude oil, of which 29 are not yet sanctioned by any jurisdiction from sanctions coalition (EU, US, UK, CA, AU, or NZ), and 26 of these still meet the shadow fleet criteria.
- Similarly, it was identified that 55 new shadow tankers engaged in transporting Russian petroleum products, 33 of which remain unsanctioned, and 28 of these 33 still meet the shadow fleet criteria.
- The most common flag among for both groups of tankers – Panama, which is grey-listed under the Paris MoU.
- In addition, KSE Institute identified 81 shadow tankers that conducted more than three voyages from Russia during January 2024 – July 2025 in shadow fleet status, however, have not yet been sanctioned by any jurisdiction.
- Among these 81 tankers, half sail under the Russian flag, over 60% of such vessels are managed (Registered Owner, Ship Manager, and ISM Manager) by Russian and UAE-based companies.
- Considering the ongoing work on the 19th EU sanctions package, we urge our European partners to continue efforts targeted at combating Russian shadow fleet activities.

Important notes on analysis:

- The total number of shadow tankers operating with Russian crude is likely higher, as tankers performing fewer than three loadings and shipments from Russia during 2024–2025 were not included for the purposes of this analysis.
- Tankers that transported Russian oil via STS (ship-to-ship) operations without directly calling at ports for loading were not included.
- Tankers that had been transporting Russian oil over extended periods and met the shadow fleet criteria, but as of 5 September 2025 had obtained IG P&I insurance and/or were managed by companies from Price Cal Coalition countries, were not included.

Over the first seven months of 2025, Russia deployed 60 new shadow tankers for loading and transporting Russian crude oil and 55 new shadow tankers for Russian petroleum products. These vessels had not conducted operations with Russian oil in shadow fleet status in 2024.

- Of the 60 crude oil tankers, as of 5 September 2025, 26 remain shadow and non-sanctioned.
- Of the 55 petroleum product tankers, 28 remain shadow and non-sanctioned.

Among the 26 tankers that began transporting Russian crude oil in 2025 (and did not conduct any loadings in Russia in shadow fleet status in 2024):

- 15 currently sail under the flag of Panama, grey-listed under Paris MoU and 1 sails under black-listed Comoros;
- 9 are owned by Seychelles–Mauritius–Marshall Islands companies, each operating only a single tanker, registered mostly at the same addresses within their respective jurisdictions, with no open or transparent information available about their activities;
- 24 tankers (92%) are over 15 years old.

In addition to the new tankers that emerged in 2025, there are 81* shadow tankers that have been involved in loading and transporting Russian oil to foreign ports throughout 2024–2025. These vessels collectively carried ~99.5 mb of Russian oil, meeting the shadow fleet criteria.

- 60% operate under the flags of Russia and Panama, which are grey-listed under the Paris MoU.
- 63% of the tankers have companies acting as both Ship/Commercial Manager and ISM Manager from two countries – Russia and the UAE.
